Prader-Willi Syndrome is a birth defect which affects appetite, growth, metabolism and behavior. The cause of this genetic disorder is unknown. There is no cure for PWS, but there is hope. The hope is that, through greater awareness and increased knowledge, persons who are affected will achieve a higher quality of life. This year's proceeds will be given to the local NJ chapter for educational programs and the national chapter to fund research, parent mentoring, and the crisis hotline.
