

On Halloween, because Justice had four siblings, we didn't want to stop letting them trick or treat. The day after Halloween, Justice would take her candy and "sell" it to her grandparents. She usually ended up with $100 for all her candy, which she could use for anything she wanted at the craft store.

| Kristi Rickenbach, Mom to Justice

